Ken Burns, and others
explore American history

WETA Focus

One of WETA's most important services to the public is sharing the many stories of America. We are very proud to present thoughtful and engaging programs that illuminate our collective history and our journey as a people.

In February, we are pleased to bring you acclaimed films and series from two of our longtime production partners, documentarian Ken Burns and scholar Dr. Henry Louis Gates, Jr. We present Burns's program spotlighting the Statue of Liberty, exploring the creation of the world-famous monument to freedom — and its meaning. His film on the U.S. Congress recounts the history of both the iconic edifice and the legislative institution over its first two centuries.

And continuing from January is the Ken Burns biography of Thomas Jefferson, America's third president and writer of the Declaration of Independence.

Dr. Gates, one of America's foremost interpreters of the Black experience, examines the impact of African American movement on the nation and its culture in the ongoing new series Great Migrations: A People on the Move. Also watch his 2022 history series Making Black America: Through the Grapevine, a WETA co-production detailing the vital networks that supported Black families, institutions and communities.

Other absorbing documentaries airing this month include the award-winning series Eyes on the Prize, chronicling the Civil Rights Movement; and films on early NAACP leader Walter White and his battles against segregation; trailblazing music and television star Hazel Scott; influential Virginia-born chef Edna Lewis; and early superstar athlete Major Taylor. The ongoing series History with David Rubenstein offers more new interviews with distinguished scholars on wide-ranging topics in American history. And Dr. Gates's riveting, popular genealogy series Finding Your Roots continues, spotlighting more family histories of prominent Americans.

I encourage you to sample these many offerings that broaden our understanding of our nation, our society and our people. Enjoy WETA's February programming, and thank you for your ongoing generous support that makes these complex and fascinating programs available to all.

Telling America's Stories

WETA presents a wide slate of engaging documentary history programming in February, from a rich array of Black History Month offerings that include the ongoing series Great Migrations: A People on the Move, written and hosted by Dr. Henry Louis Gates, Jr., to films by Ken Burns and others.

American Experience: Forgotten Hero: Walter White and the NAACP

Tuesday, February 25 at 9 p.m.
on WETA PBS & WETA Metro;
stream on the PBS App

A new, two-hour American Experience documentary tells the story of Walter White (1893-1955), longtime leader of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People — and of others who shaped America's most powerful civil rights organization. Under White's leadership, the NAACP paved the way for Black power at the ballot box and scored important legal victories. Braving violence and oppression in the Jim Crow era, NAACP activists set the stage for the Civil Rights Movement. Some of their names are familiar: W.E.B. Du Bois and Thurgood Marshall. But Walter White — arguably the most influential Black man in mid-century America — has been all but forgotten. Forgotten Hero: Walter White and the NAACP traces the life of this civil rights hero.

LIB. OF CONGRESS, PRINTS/PHOTOGRAPHS DIV., VISUAL MATERIALS FROM NAACP RECORDS

With his blond hair and blue eyes, Walter White looked white, but he was Black. Heading the NAACP 1929-1955, he launched a courtroom campaign battling segregation and discrimination and aiming to expand voting rights. The strategy culminated with victory in Brown v. Board of Education in 1954, and in 1955, the year of White's death, Rosa Parks refused to give up her seat on an Alabama bus.

The Statue of Liberty + The Congress

Friday, Feb. 14 at 9 & 10:30 p.m.
on WETA PBS & WETA Metro;
stream with WETA Passport

WETA reprises two of renowned filmmaker and WETA partner Ken Burns's acclaimed early productions. The Statue of Liberty (1985) Burns's Academy Award-nominated documentary, explores the story of the freedom monument's creation in France and arrival in New York. The statue has been a symbol of hope and refuge for generations of immigrants. In interviews with Americans from all walks of life, the film examines the nature of liberty and the significance of the statue to American life.

COURTESY FLORENTINE FILMS

The Congress (1989), created in association with WETA, explores the colorful history and promise of the U.S. legislative branch. The film tells the story of the Capitol building itself — including its burning by the British in the War of 1812 and its completion in the midst of the Civil War — and chronicles the extraordinary personalities, events and issues that animated the first 200 years of Congress and, in turn, the country.

Also this month, the 1997 Florentine Films and WETA co-production Thomas Jefferson, Burns's acclaimed two-part biography of the nation's third president, continues Friday, Feb. 7 at 9 p.m. on WETA PBS.

Great Migrations: A People on the Move

Celebrating Black History Month

WETA presents a special slate of programming for Black History Month, including documentaries and independent films, biographies, history series and more. Great Migrations: A People on the Move (Tuesdays, 9 p.m.), hosted by WETA partner Dr. Henry Louis Gates, Jr., continues in February, exploring how a series of Black migrations have shaped America. Finding Your Roots with Henry Louis Gates, Jr.

(Tuesdays, 8 p.m.) also continues, this season spotlighting the ancestry of Rita Dove, Lonnie Bunch, Sheryl Lee Ralph, Laurence Fishburne, and Gates himself in more genealogical explorations.

Among other new programming: American Justice on Trial: People v Newton chronicles the murder trial of Black Panther Huey Newton. Major Taylor: Champion of the Race spotlights the famed cyclist, the world's first Black sports superstar. American Masters: The Disappearance of Miss Scott tells the story of jazz virtuoso and actor Hazel Scott, blacklisted during the McCarthy era. Finding Edna Lewis celebrates the Virginia-born chef who brought seasonal cooking and Southern food to the fore. And Independent Lens: Bike Vessel follows a father-son cycling journey at the heart of which is the reimagining of Black health. Also this month, a new American Experience film chronicles the story of the NAACP (see page 1). Visit weta.org/blackhistory to learn more.

Signature Dish

New episodes air Mondays, Feb. 3 & 10, 9 p.m. WETA PBS, 8 p.m. WETA Metro;
stream on the PBS App

WETA restaurant series Signature Dish rolls out two new Season 3 episodes in February, spotlighting cuisine throughout Greater Washington. In Soup Season (Feb. 3), host Seth Tillman heads to Shilling Canning Company in D.C.'s Navy Yard to sample their classic French Onion Soup. Next, Kiin Imm Thai in Vienna, VA ladles out flavor-packed Khao Soi with soft shell crab. The final stop is the Roof Terrace Restaurant at the Kennedy Center for a bowl of their signature JFK Chowder.

Incredible Italian (Feb. 10) explores D.C.-style Italian classics, beginning with the mezzi rigatoni at the Bloomingdale neighborhood's Red Hen. Next up, Navy Yard's Ama offers a tasty coniglio (rabbit stew), showcasing flavors of Northern Italy. Then, at Al Tiramisu in Dupont Circle, Seth indulges in lobster risotto.

Signature Dish returns in April with six new episodes. Stream episodes at weta.org/signaturedish or on the PBS App. For more on the restaurants and dishes featured, visit restaurants.wetaguides.org. Follow the series via @signaturedishdc on Instagram.

WETA Arts

Monday, Feb. 10 at 9:30 p.m. on WETA PBS;
8:30 p.m. WETA Metro; stream on PBS App

This month on WETA Arts, tour the National Museum of African American History and Culture's new exhibit, "In Slavery's Wake: Making Black Freedom in the World." Ten years in the making, the exhibition focuses on the worldwide impact of European slavery and colonialism.

Next, host Felicia Curry visits mezzo-soprano opera superstar Denyce Graves, whose foundation promotes equity and inclusion in American classical vocal arts. Graves, who grew up in Southwest D.C. and studied at Duke Ellington School of the Arts, is working to recover, promote and sponsor classical music written by Black Americans. Then, meet Silver Spring pianist Brian Ganz, who is on quest to perform all of composer Frédéric Chopin's works (more than 240 pieces). WETA Arts repeats February 17.

Funny Woman, Series 2

Sundays at 10 p.m. starting Feb. 2
on WETA PBS & WETA Metro;
binge-watch with WETA Passport

Popular drama Funny Woman returns for a second season, starring Gemma Arterton (Quantum of Solace; Their Finest) as Barbara Parker, a small-town England beauty queen who has swapped pageant life for comedy television in 1960s London. The four new episodes promise more laughs and connections as we see Parker, using the stage name Sophie Straw, having established herself as the nation's favorite TV comedy star, navigating her newfound fame and career, a group of good friends, and a budding romance with Dennis, played by Arsher Ali. However, with new opportunities come new challenges; and when her new sitcom flops, things start to go south with her family and her relationships. Will Sophie be able to turn things around, embrace her real life, and all the while challenge outdated cultural conventions?

Queens of Mystery

Sundays, Feb. 16 & 23 at 7 p.m.
on WETA PBS & WETA Metro;
binge-watch with WETA Passport

WETA presents a two-episode sneak peek of the drama Queens of Mystery, an Emmy-nominated series from Julian Unthank (Doc Martin, New Tricks) that follows a young detective — played by Olivia Vinall in Series 1 — and her three mystery-writing aunts who believe that their knowledge of crime fiction makes them perfectly qualified to help her solve whodunit-style murders in their community, Wildermarsh. The offbeat contemporary British series features quirky characters and darkly comic cases. The cast includes, as the aunts, Julie Graham (Shetland, The Bletchley Circle), Sarah Woodward (The Pale Horse) and Siobhan Redmond (Unforgotten). Juliet Stevenson is the show's narrator.

The two sneak-peek episodes air Sunday nights in late February, repeating Thursday nights on WETA PBS. Binge-watch all of Series 1 & 2 (12 episodes) with WETA Passport as of Feb. 14. The full series begins airing on WETA PBS and WETA Metro in April.

The Brokenwood Mysteries, Series 3

Thursdays, Feb. 20 & 27 at 9 p.m. on WETA PBS; binge-watch Series 1-4
now with WETA Passport

WETA presents two Series 3 episodes of North-Island New Zealand-set series The Brokenwood Mysteries on WETA PBS, starring Neill Rea as quirky police detective Mike Shepherd and Fern Sutherland as his methodical assistant, detective Kristin Sims. Along with the eager young constable Sam Breen (Nic Sampson) and medical examiner Dr. Gina Kadinsky (Cristina Ionda), the two investigate serious crimes in the seemingly serene rural community.

The two episodes air Thursday nights in late February on WETA PBS. Binge-watch Series 1-4 now with WETA Passport. The full third season of The Brokenwood Mysteries airs in April on WETA PBS. In Series 3's four mysteries, the team face poisonous spiders, a real-life "Clue" board game gone wrong, the death of a classic-car enthusiast, and more.

NOVA: Baltimore Bridge Collapse

Wednesday, Feb. 26 at 9 p.m.
on WETA PBS & WETA Metro;
stream on the PBS App

On March 26, 2024 the world collectively gasped as a massive container ship, the Dali, lost control and plowed into the landmark Francis Scott Key Bridge in Baltimore. The busy four-lane bridge suffered a catastrophic collapse and crashed into the Patapsco River. Six highway workers were killed, and the Port of Baltimore — a crucial link in the global shipping chain on the U.S. Eastern Seaboard — was blocked by thousands of tons of twisted steel and concrete. How did a modern ship lose all power and propulsion? And why did the bridge fail so catastrophically? NOVA follows the high-stakes rescue and recovery, efforts to reopen the port, and investigations into what went wrong and how many other crucial bridges around the world are at risk.

Secrets of the Dead: Plunderer: The Life and Times of a Nazi Art Thief

Wednesdays, Feb. 19 & 26 at 10 p.m.
on WETA PBS & WETA Metro;
stream on the PBS App

In the decade leading up to 1945, it's estimated that the Nazis stole one-fifth of all artwork in Europe — the majority from Jewish families and others deemed “undesirables” — in a culture war that was designed to rewrite European history. But that was just the beginning. Secret networks of curators and dealers — many of them Nazis like Bruno Lohse (the “Plunderer”) — made fortunes on looted art, perpetuating a decades-long war crime that has never been fully exposed or resolved. Through interviews with gallery owners, curators, art investigators, and the descendants of the victims of Nazi art theft, and a tour through masterpieces and an archive of personal letters, the two-part program Plunderer reveals the international art world's dark underbelly, much of it built upon wartime tragedy and organized crime.

Wednesday, Feb. 19 at 8 p.m.
on WETA PBS & WETA Metro;
stream on the PBS App

In a new program from Nature, iconic British broadcaster and natural historian Sir David Attenborough explores London's renowned Natural History Museum and through computer animation meets some of the most extraordinary creatures from the distant past. The extinct animals are brought back to life using state-of-the-art CGI informed by the latest scientific understanding, which allows Attenborough to come face-to-face with a saber-toothed tiger, dodge a giant eagle, and evade a colossal snake. Among other animals he encounters are a dodo, giant ground sloth, giant ape and ichthyosaur. At right, Attenborough appears in the museum's Central Hall with the skeleton of a Diplodocus.

WETA UK Highlights

Britain by Beach, Series 2

Sundays, Feb. 2 & 16, 9-11 p.m.
on WETA UK

Travel series Britain by Beach returns with four Season 2 episodes hosted by Anita Rani. Britain has more than 1,000 beaches, many of which are the sites of significant moments in history across the centuries. From Victorian engineering buried under the Cornish sand, and repelled invasions on the Welsh coast, to the tragedy of the country's worst lifeboat disaster, Rani explores these special places and their stories, meeting with historians and locals. The series covers the breadth and variety of the U.K., showcasing British regionality. Episodes are The North West, visiting Lancashire/Blackpool; Cornwall, exploring the renowned coast; Kent, including Dover; and Wales.

The Paris Murders, Series 2

Tuesdays at 8 p.m.
starting Feb. 11
on WETA UK

A second season of the French-language, English-subtitled police procedural series — “Profilage” in France — follows criminal psychologist and intuitive profiler Chloé Saint-Laurent (Odile Vuillemin) as she solves the most puzzling cases with the Paris homicide division alongside hard-nosed cop Det. Rocher (Philippe Bas). Saint-Laurent’s exceptional sensitivity enables her to read the minds of killers and victims alike. The suspenseful and fast-paced series, based on actual criminal cases, is among the curated international dramas in the series Walter Presents. Seven seasons of the drama are available to stream with WETA Passport. As of Season 5, a new police psychologist, Adèle Delettre, portrayed by Juliette Roudet, replaces Saint-Laurent.

Travel with the Stars

Mondays, 8-10 p.m. starting Feb. 24
on WETA UK

Enjoy two series that feature star actors on the road, visiting iconic places and exploring their people and culture. In Miriam and Alan: Lost in Scotland, Series 2, Mondays at 8 p.m. starting Feb. 24, Miriam Margolyes (Harry Potter) and Alan Cumming (Masterpiece) rediscover more of their Scottish roots — and then journey across the pond to the U.S. for an epic road trip that takes them to Los Angeles, Palm Springs and Las Vegas. Alan’s dog Lala joins them; the series features four episodes. Then, at 9 p.m. on Mondays, Martin Clunes’ Islands of the Pacific, Series 2, starting Feb. 24, features the Doc Martin star on a journey across the Pacific Ocean, spotlighting islands and their communities. This season, Clunes travels to Papua New Guinea, the Philippines, and Micronesia in successive episodes.

Making Black America: Through the Grapevine

Thursdays, Feb. 13 & 20, 9-11 p.m. on WETA Metro

A four-part documentary series from WETA partner Dr. Henry Louis Gates, Jr. explores the vibrant cultural and social spaces at the heart of the Black experience in the United States. The 2022 WETA co-production Making Black America: Through the Grapevine — executive-produced, written and hosted by Gates, the Alphonse Fletcher University Professor and Director of the Hutchins Center for African & African American Research at Harvard University — features the renowned scholar seeking out the networks that supported and nurtured Black families, institutions and community, and includes interviews with leading academics, scholars and experts.

Denzel Washington: American Paradox

Thursday, Feb. 6 at 10 p.m. on WETA Metro

Throughout a 30-year-career spanning more than 50 film roles, two-time Oscar-winner Denzel Washington placed the figure of the Black man in all its complexity at the heart of American drama in roles ranging from an activist and rebel soldier to a gangster torn between violence and charity. The program Denzel Washington: American Paradox presents a comprehensive review of Washington's remarkable career and his indelible impact on the film industry. Featured clips include his Oscar-winning roles in Glory and Training Day along with scenes from Fences, St. Elsewhere, Malcolm X, Crimson Tide, Much Ado About Nothing, The Pelican Brief, Philadelphia and more. The program repeats Feb. 8 at 8 p.m.

Major Taylor: Champion of the Race

Saturday, Feb. 15 at 8 p.m. on WETA Metro

Extraordinary athlete Marshall Walter "Major" Taylor (1878-1932), the world's first Black superstar, earned nicknames such as The Cyclone, The Whirlwind, and The Comet. Reporters just called him "The Fastest Man in the World." The program Major Taylor: Champion of the Race retraces the life and legacy of this American civil rights pioneer who set more than 20 world records in speed cycling during the time of Jim Crow America. By the time he was in his early 20s, Taylor had claimed the world cycling crown and the American cycling crown, all while having to endure withering racial pressures. The program repeats Feb. 16 at 2 p.m.

Journeys of Black Mathematicians

Tuesdays, Feb. 18 & 25 at 9 p.m.
on WETA World

A two-part series traces the cultural evolution of Black scholars, scientists and educators in the field of mathematics. The programs follow the stories of prominent pioneers, illustrating the challenges they faced and how their triumphs are reflected in the experiences of today's Black mathematicians. Their mathematical descendants, in turn, are contemporary college students and K-12 children across the U.S. who are learning that they belong in mathematics and STEM. The role of HBCUs in producing Black mathematicians is explored; students stress the role of outstanding teachers who are responsible for advancing schools' math and science programs.

NOVA: Star Chasers of Senegal

Tuesday, Feb. 4 at 9 p.m. on WETA World

Before a NASA spacecraft blasts off from Cape Canaveral on a mission to the Trojans — a group of asteroids over 400 million miles from Earth that is thought to hold important clues about the origins of our solar system — a team of scientists sets out to capture extraordinarily precise observations vital to the success of the mission: crucial data needed to help the spacecraft find its asteroid targets. In this NOVA program, the team's leader, Senegalese astronomer Maram Kaire, illuminates his nation's rich history of astronomy, reaching back thousands of years — and spotlights the promising future ahead.

Eyes on the Prize, Series 1 & 2

Thursdays at 8 & 9 p.m. on WETA World

Henry Hampton's iconic, award-winning 1987 documentary history series shares the human drama of the Civil Rights Movement in America through the experiences and challenges of those fighting for justice. The film tells the story of decades of human rights struggles from the point of view of the ordinary men and women whose extraordinary actions helped to change the fabric of American life. Featuring interviews and rare historical footage, Series 1 traces the Movement from the Montgomery bus boycott in 1954 to the Voting Rights Act in 1965. Julian Bond narrates. Series 2 covers the years 1965 to 1985. Eyes on the Prize won multiple Emmy and Peabody awards and was nominated for an Academy Award for Best Documentary Feature.

Falstaff on Opera Matinee

Saturday, February 22 at 1 p.m.

WETA Classical’s Opera Matinee this month presents a series of Met Opera “Artist’s Choice” archival performances. For the February 22 broadcast, conductor Yannick Nézet-Séguin chose a 1964 Met performance with Leonard Bernstein conducting Verdi’s comic work Falstaff (left), based on Shakespeare’s character. Anselmo Colzani sings the title role. Other operas include Angel Blue’s selection La Traviata (Feb. 1), 2007, with Renée Fleming and Matthew Polenzani; Ryan Speedo Green’s choice Der Fliegende Holländer (Feb. 8), 1960, with George London; and Lise Davidsen’s selection Ariadne auf Naxos (Feb. 15), 1985, featuring Jessye Norman.

Polyphony & More on Choral Showcase

Sundays at 9 p.m.

WETA Classical’s weekly program Choral Showcase this month features polyphonic music of the Renaissance on Feb. 2 from seven composers and six ensembles. On Feb. 9, hear the 1994 Cathedral Choral Society performance of Hector Berlioz’s 1824 Messe Solennelle, a piece of work the composer claimed to have destroyed after just two performances. A copy was discovered in 1991 and the work had its North American premiere in Washington, D.C., with the Cathedral Choral Society. On Feb. 16, listen to settings of the Biblical Song of Songs by composers Purcell, Victoria, Vaughan Williams, Jonathan Dove, and Percy Grainger. And on Feb. 23, Felix Mendelssohn’s oratorio Paulus concludes the month’s offerings.

On NSO Showcase, Wed., Feb. 5 at 9 p.m.: Hear Wagner’s Flying Dutchman Overture, Shostakovich’s Symphony No. 5 & Beethoven’s Symphony No. 7. National Symphony Orchestra Music Director Gianandrea Noseda conducts.

Florence Price and the American Sound

By Evan Keely, WETA Classical On-Air Host

So many of the complexities of what it means to be American intersect in the music of Florence Price (1887-1953). No stranger to the professional, artistic and personal obstacles posed by sexism and racism, this Black woman created compositions that are a thrilling synthesis of social and cultural influences, as well as a testament to her perseverance, intellect and passion.

Her composition teacher at the New England Conservatory was its director, George Whitefield Chadwick, one of the “Boston Six” composers (Amy Beach and Edward MacDowell also among them) who were striving toward a distinctly American compositional style. Though the influence of Germanic Romanticism is audible in their music, these composers showed America and the world that the USA could hold its own, musically. Steeped in this mindset when she graduated from NEC with top honors in 1906, Price also drew deeply from the well of African American musical traditions. Her genius expresses itself in a fusion of styles, creating a musical language that is lyrical, sophisticated, energetic, and distinctly American in its sound.

In 1933, the Chicago Symphony performed her Symphony in E Minor, probably the first time a symphony by a Black woman was played by a major American orchestra. This magnificent work is featured on an album often heard on WETA Classical which won the 2022 Grammy Award for Best Orchestral Performance — Yannick Nézet-Séguin conducting the Philadelphia Orchestra.

Price’s story includes a posthumous miracle: the astoundingly fortunate rescue of a trove of her manuscripts from an abandoned house in 2009. Through a combination of good intentions and extraordinary good luck, a substantial body of this excellent composer’s work was rescued from oblivion. They include works such as her Violin Concerto No. 2. There is no evidence of a commission for this work. She appears to have composed it simply because she wanted to, because she believed in herself and the value of her unique voice. Black History Month invites and challenges us not only to contemplate why treasures like these might have been sitting abandoned in an attic for a half century, but to bring that wrongly neglected genius to light.
